NNPBC ANNOUNCES 2024-2025 BOARD OFFICERS

BURNABY, BC – The Association of Nurses and Nurse Practitioners of British Columbia (NNPBC), the professional association which represents all four nursing designations in the province of BC, has announced the officers of the 2024-2025 Board of Directors.

"On behalf of the NNPBC staff team, I am honoured to welcome each of the newly selected Board officers into their roles. I look forward to working closely with each of you and the full Board of Directors in our mandate to support excellence in nursing practice, education, research, and leadership in this province through clear strategic direction and ongoing partnership engagement. I am excited for the work ahead of us, and trust in this Board to offer valuable strategic oversight of NNPBC activities as we continue to promote nursing-led, culturally appropriate, patient-centred solutions for our health care system," said Angela Wignall, Chief Executive Officer.

"I am honoured to have been appointed the role as Board Chair of the Association of Nurses and Nurse Practitioners of British Columbia and offer my gratitude to my fellow Board members for their support. I look forward to collaborating with representative directors from each of the NNPBC nursing councils, as well as with directors representing provincial Chief Nursing Officers, the Nursing Education Council of BC, student nurses, Indigenous nursing, and the public, to define and implement effective governance process in our time together," said Sukhwant Jassar, incoming Board Chair.
